Petition Of Judicial Notice
"Sur-Reply"

Comes now plaintiff Corey Taylor a pre-trial Detainee at Davidson county Sheriff's Office placing this court on notice that prior to his filing of this matter In his Grievances on Trinity he Notified them of his potential to File suit for all That's given in his complaint. Trinity Deliberately Ignored plaintiff's grievances past the DCSO 9Day Reply Policy on Grievances and Trinity Did not Reply to the complaints until 3 and 4 months later, even the Taylor made Trinity aware that These issues were before the courts seeking relief. Taylor has Requested copies of his complaints so that the courts will verify That trinity has been placed on Notice Prior to suit and even after suit was filed. Taylor also mentions that The clerk of courts never provided him with summons in a civil action Form (AO440). Taylor Further states that Trinity was placed on notice and Alerted about an issue long before suit was filed and when plaintiff Stated his potential Desire to file suit when he mentioned such in his complaints and his potential to Recover Damages as he mentioned in his grievances and Taylor did mention his intent to Recover punitive Damages and Compensatory Damages and Damages for Injuries he has suffered. In Still v. wilkinson 1999 U.S. APPEXIS 24329 The Appeals court Ruled that still placed Defendants on sufficient notice as a pro se litigant Based on his complaint In fenf, LLC v. Ritacco 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 129592 The same applies. Being laymen to law Taylor pleads with the court to Reconsider his Motion for Temporary Restraining order once The clerk provides him with Form AO440 cause The Deliberate acts persist and Taylor has suffered yet another Injury Due to the Recklessness of the disregard of his Diet in having no spices, Taylor has suffered a Blister on his Gums That Burst and Developed yet another Ulcer Due to the Recklessness of Trinity Food Serv. Repeatedly Providing him with meals that contain spices when there's a label with Plaintiff's name and It states No Spices Added Taylor seeks this court's assistance in serving Defendants

Respectfully Submitted Corey Taylor
